On this day in 1942 HM Submarine Upholder was lost with all hands (32 crew) off Tripoli on or around this date, possibly mined, or depth-charged by Italian convoy escorts.

Two submariners from Northern Ireland served in Upholder during the war.

They were Lieutenant Henry Walmisley of Kilkeel and the legendary Admiral Arthur Hezlett (above) from Aghadowey.

HM Submarine Upholder

Lieutenant Henry Walmisley, RNVR, died on HM Submarine Tetrarch off Sicily. Age 27.

After a period of intense action, Lt. Walmsley was hitching a lift from Malta to the UK on the submarine Tetrarch. Mentioned in Despatches (posthumously), London Gazette 07/04/1942, he had completed seventeen Central Mediterranean War Patrols with HM Ships Unbeaten, Upholder and Ursula. Torpedoed three large escorted Italian transports off Tripoli 18/09/1941. Sank the Italian Torpedo Boat Albatross off Cape Rascolmo, north Sicily on 27/09/1941.

Tetrarch sailed from Alexandria on 17/10/1941 for Malta to adjust complement before proceeding to refit in USA. The submarine arrived at Malta on 24/10/1941, and left again on 26/10/1941 at 1700. Routing instructions were communicated from Gibraltar by the Flag Officer Commanding North Atlantic on the afternoon of 25th and also requested that she report her position, course and speed. Tetrarch did not respond and was never seen again. The loss cannot be ascribed to any known enemy anti-submarine attacks, and it was assumed that mining was the most likely cause of her loss beyond the Sicilian Channel off Cavioli island. Son of James Charles and Margaret Walmsley, Kilkeel. Valetta WM.

Vice-Admiral Sir Arthur Hezlet, KBE, CB, DSO and Bar, DSC, Legion of Merit (United States) was a submarine ace. He was appointed the Royal Navy's youngest captain at 36 and its youngest admiral at 45. In 1941 he was sent as relief commanding officer in the "Fighting" 10th Submarine Flotilla based at Malta, where he took over command of Upholder from Lieutenant David Wanklyn, VC, for what was to be his only uneventful patrol.

Hezlet then took temporary command of Unique, the sole survivor of three submarines sent to patrol the shallow waters off Tunisia which attacked a convoy bound for North Africa. He sank the 11,400-ton troopship Esperia, but was counter-attacked and, not knowing that Unique was leaking fuel from an external tank which gave away his position, he was bombed repeatedly by an Italian flying boat.

Nevertheless, he survived and after only nine days in command was awarded the DSC for his courage and skill.

State Department Note Brings About Crisis; Answer Is Anxiously Awaited

Orozco to Be Judged by Deeds Rather Than by Promises; Americans to Arm

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The State Department's forceful note to the contending factions in Mexico, warning them against any mistreatment of Americans, is believed to have brought the relations between the United States and Mexico to the critical point. This is a fair deduction from past experience and tradition of the State Department, notably and recently in the case of Cuba.

It is recalled that such warning as this preceded the Spanish-American war, culminating in the famous message of President McKinley which referred "to intolerable conditions existing at our doorway."

It still is hoped and believed by administration officials, however, that Saturday's notes will have a sobering effect on the

BULLETIN

HALIFAX, N. S., April 15.—The Canadian government marine agency here at 4:15 p. m. received a wireless dispatch that the Titanic is sinking. The message came via the cable ship Minia off Cape Race. It is said the vessels towing the Titanic were endeavoring to get her in to shoal water near Cape Race to beach her.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, April 15.—Vice-President Franklin of the White Star Line said at 4 o'clock that he had definite information that all the passengers had been transferred from the Titanic. He had received nothing, however, indicating the extent of the damage to the liner.

WIRELESS dispatches up to noon today showed that the passengers of the White Star liner Titanic, which

The Titanic collided with an iceberg in the North Atlantic Ocean, and sank. 1,514 people – or 68% of those on board – died as a result. The ship had been built by the Harland and Wolff shipyard in Belfast, and made its last call in Cobh.
